

Anti-Stretch Mark Cream

For the prevention and reduction of stretch marks

Stretching of the tissue, such as occurs during pregnancy or weight gain, often results in scarring of skin layers, which can be seen as stretch marks. The stomach, thighs, buttocks and chest are often affected. Anti-stretch mark cream contains an extract of tiger grass (Centella asiatica), allantoin, jojoba oil, arnica oil, calendula oil, moisturisers and SyriCalm™, an active ingredient with skin-soothing properties. Massaged in regularly, the cream provides elasticity to the skin, helping to prevent stretch marks. In addition, already existing stretch marks can be reduced over time.

Use: In the morning and evening, massage into affected skin areas such as the stomach, thighs, buttocks and chest in circular motions.
