

Marula Body Oil

For the care of dry, chapped but also normal skin

The Marula tree (Sclerocarya birrea), also called elephant tree, is predominantly native to southern Africa. The 100% pure oil, which is obtained from its seeds by gentle pressing, is a true multi-talent. Rich in unsaturated fatty acids and antioxidants, it is ideal for the care of dry and chapped, but also normal skin. It gives the skin its natural oils back, moisturises and protects the skin against negative influences. Marula oil is completely odourless and is also ideal for massage, facial and hair care.

In cooler temperatures, turbidity or flocculation may possibly occur. This does not affect the product's quality.
