

Guarana Tablets

Caffeinated dietary supplement with vitamin C and magnesium

Interesting facts:

The guarana plant is a woody climber that grows in the South American tropical rain forests in the Amazon. The pips of these grape-similar, red fruit have already been appreciated for centuries by the Amazon-Indians because of their caffeine content. Guarana caffeine is firmly tied in the nut and that's why it is released slowly into the body. In this way, guarana acts as stimulant for several hours.

Thanks to its "natural retardation", Guarana Tablets are perfect for all those who want a refreshing stimulation without straining stomach, heart and circulation.

Guarana stimulates, refreshes and increases the general well-being. The pleasant mild long-term effect is completed by means of vitamin C and magnesium.
