

Horse Chestnut Vine Leaf Capsules

Food supplement with vitamin C, copper, manganese, buckwheat herb, horse chestnut seeds and red vine leaves

Useful information:

Horse Chestnut Vine Leaf Capsules are the perfect food supplement for everyone who wants to do something for their blood vessels and connective tissue, apart from taking enough exercise and using household remedies such as bursts of cold water, hot and cold showers, wearing comfortable socks and tights and putting the feet up. Vitamin C contributes towards normal production of collagen for a healthy blood vessel function. Manganese contributes towards healthy development of connective tissue and copper helps maintain a healthy, elastic connective tissue. Together they protect the cells against oxidative stress, therefore against excessive cell damaging free radicals. Valuable extracts of buckwheat herb (Fagopyrum esculentum), horse chestnut seeds and red vine leaves are added supplements.
